

Job Title: Canadian National Physiotherapy Exam Prep Teacher

Brief Company Description:

We provide online and face to face prep courses and training for students who are preparing for both the written and practical national physiotherapy competency exams.

Job Description/Posting:

This is an exciting opportunity for any licensed, Canadian-educated, physiotherapist who has a passion for teaching. If you're a Canadian Physiotherapist, we would love to talk with you. PT Exam Prep offers students comprehensive prep courses, for both the written and practical exams. Teach in person and online. Hours are flexible. Recent grads please apply!

Everything you need to be a successful teacher will be provided to you – training, course materials, physical locations, etc. Your job will be to focus on the student's needs, guide them through the course materials, answer questions, engage in our exclusive teacher community, and be the best teacher you can possibly be.

- A minimum commitment of 3 hours once per week to a pre-set teaching schedule (many of our current teachers are teaching more than 1 class per week, this is open for discussion and will be based on your performance and desire).
- Depending on what course you are teaching (written or practical) the set schedule will last for either 8 or 10 weeks.
- For practical in-person courses, travel to/from the physical teaching location will be required.
- For practical virtual sessions, you will be teaching from the comforts of your home. This means you will need to have access to a quiet space with good internet connection.
- While performing services for PT Exam Prep, you will not be eligible to participate in the Alliance PT Regulators' Physiotherapy Competency Examination as an invigilator or examiner or other role outlined by the Alliance.
- We pay a high per hour/contract rate

- Applications will only be accepted from potential teachers who reside in Canada.
- You will be required to provide a picture and bio that will be publically displayed on our website and used for marketing purposes.

The majority of the students you will be teaching will have international backgrounds and often, English is their second language. As a result, you will be playing a very important role in helping them to establish a new career and new life in Canada.

If this sounds like something that interests you, please contact me today.

Qualifications:

- You have a Masters Degree in Physiotherapy, and you've recently passed both the written and practical national exams (Alliance) on your first attempt, with a high score.
- You have experience tutoring, teaching or you have a strong desire to work in this field.
